APPENDIX A

VISION STATEMENT

The greater community of Granite sees itself as a picturesque, rural community. We enjoy our scenic views, we take advantage of a bountiful nature for hiking, biking, hunting and just plain gazing. We appreciate the fact that in our midst we have farms, a lumber mill, and a nursery products business. We are proud of our historic district and its antique store. Retirees, housewives and those who work in factories, offices, whatever, like to say: "I live in the Granite area."

Many, perhaps most, of our citizens would like to retain the community's present character and severely restrict future growth. There is general recognition, however, that "we can't build a wall around ourselves and keep others out." This sense of realism undergirds the community's support for moderate, well-planned development and growth. The support for such moderation is shared, by and large, even by landowners who wish to develop their properties and have applied for upzoning to do so.

Conservation-minded citizens want to promote agricultural preservation and retain RC 2 zoning wherever it can be sustained. There seems to be general agreement that RC 3 zoning is preferable to RC 5, although at least one landowner-developer believes "that RC 5 zoning is appropriate, keeping the suburban-rural character of the area with low density housing."

One landowner, who has requested upzoning on 250 acres, has promised to create "lovely, private homesites that would be in keeping with the vision of Granite. By including nature and bike trails, creating conservation areas and possibly reserving an area for a future school, we could even provide a better community." Another developer has indicated a willingness to place homes near main roads on larger lots so as to lessen their impact on scenic views. A study to determine the impact of additional wells, required for his new development, on the water supply of the community was conducted by one landowner. The community appreciates such constructive comments and actions.

Our citizens tend to distrust promises made by developers, although resident-developers have more credibility. We hope that we can depend upon county authorities to protect water quality, stream valleys, stands of mature trees, the interests of property owners adjacent to new developments, and to ensure that all environmental concerns are addressed correctly. We believe that citizen safety must be the primary concern of traffic engineers, not the convenience of the developer.

Schools. Schools! This is the immediate response of residents when they are asked to consider the effects of development on the community. Many long-established residents are parents or grandparents of children in area schools - Winfield and Hernwood Elementary Schools, Deer Park Middle School, and Randallstown High School. As school population increases, the quality of education appears to decrease, and parents who cannot afford private schools are moving to other jurisdictions. Families who have recently moved into the new developments in our area are sending their children to schools outside the area. The necessity to do so certainly impacts negatively on our vision of the future of the Granite area. Only the County Council can take appropriate action to make future development dependent upon commensurate improvement in our schools.

Our vision does not require the imposition of expensive infrastructure like water and sewerage. These facilities would lead to high-density development, which in turn, would radically alter the pastoral nature of our community. Moreover, the capital program necessary would require many millions of scarce taxpayer dollars for funding. We believe this money could be better spent in rejuvenating "close-in" communities. We also believe that road improvement should be limited to improving existing surfaces and such widening as is necessary for approved developments.

In summary, our vision for the greater Granite community involves the continued protection of scenic vistas, the environment and our rural way of life, with an emphasis on agricultural preservation. At the same time, we recognize the need for some population expansion into our area. Our community leaders are willing to work with developers and county authorities in an effort to plan development that will have minimum negative impact on the quality of life currently enjoyed by our residents, and provide a welcoming environment for newcomers.
